TTLE-DRIVERS DISARM. POLICE.

RRIVAL OF THE MILITARY.

r Ennis correspondent, writing on Wednes night, says:—Exciting scenes were witnessed the Bodyke and Scariff districts of East Following another cattle-drive on the poor property. Early in the day about or eight hundred men collected at the new known farm of Kilgorey, which has already the scene of several cattle-drives. proceeded to force the cattle of with a view to driving them up to the er at his residence. On the way they met small party of police, and there was a ession, in which the police were overpowered. stated that some of their bicycles were shed up, and their overcoats, which were to the bicycles, were cut and slashed. urther on three constables who were coming from an outlying station to Scariff met the wd, and there was another collision, in ich two of the constables were knocked down rather badly beaten, and their rifles taken from them. The third man put his back to the and threatened his assailants with his , and eventually fired, apparently over their ads, as it is not said that anyone was injured. ring the effect of settling the crowd, d in their hurried departure they left behind them the two rifles, which were recovered the two constables were brought to the Scariff Barracks. The drivers continued to drive to Moyroe, where they turned over the ttle to the owners.

Meanwhile a party of military, who had been layed by trees which had been felled across roads, turned out, and soon after another rting from Scariff was reported as having taken ce. One of the crowd is stated to have ttered a bayonet from its scabbard from a itary comrade, whereupon the latter struck ce, and the crowd at once scattered ain.

There is the utmost excitement throughout e district. The telegraph wires to Ennis re cut yesterday, and were repaired, and were cut once more, while trees were felled across veral roads to impede the police and military. is not stated whether any arrests have been de. Another report states that two other police who were going to Scariff were stopped d their rifles taken.

Writing yesterday, our correspondent says:—ring Thursday night crowds from Ennis to the South and West were rendered impassable y the felling of trees across them, with a view, is alleged, to impeding the police and military movements in the case of anticipated attle drives. The Kildysart mail car was held p near Craglea, and the mail-bags carried on ome delayed, while several travellers had to return to the town. At New Hall, the residence Mr. P. H. Macdonell, a number of trees re cut down in the demesne.

A report from Bodyke district says that further drives around the locality are expected on Wednesday, but details are lacking, as the telegraph wires have been cut. They were found cut on Tuesday, but were repaired during the night, and are again cut.

In the Corofin district it is stated that lands belonging to various owners have been ploughed up, and that the Kilmaley, Corofin, Ennistymon and Rafferty, which formerly belonged to Mr. J. Hynes, whatever the Government may do about passports, the seamen will refuse to leave Ireland in the meantime. It is neither importance nor reparation is offered for the sacrifices and patient conflicts constitute the only definite war news during the period of waiting for the Germans to begin. The weather continues wonderfully fine for the season, and along the greater part of the front the condition of the ground is now good enough to render offensive operations on a large scale feasible. From Passchendaele Ridge to our southern flank we are everywhere prepared to meet whatever German enterprise may bring.

The Amsterdam Telegraaf's frontier correspondent says that troops and reserves are still being brought in large numbers from the east. Those who displayed the greatest excitement were the Czech and Socialist members, who interrupted at almost every sentence with violent exclamations.

The Vossische Zeitung publishes a message from the Austrian Premier's declaration on Tuesday respecting the situation in the north-east has not substantially changed. The situation stands aloof, dissatisfied and exasperated, notwithstanding the Premier's speech. During the last hour that the sitting lasted wild scenes occurred.

The Premier tried to read his speech, but he succeeded in making himself understood only to those Deputies who were nearest to him, as the Czechs and Slavs shouted down every one of his sentences. There was only a few words left in the Minister's seat by the broad shoulders of Deputy Herr Albrecht. While the Premier continued to sound his feeble voice, the Slavs, the Czechs shouted, "Lies, treachery." "Tell them that in Berlin." When the Czech Deputy, Dr. Soukrup, interjected, "The German troops want to advance, but we protest," there arose a pandemonium. Most of the Czech Deputies left the Premier continued to read his speech, quite oblivious of how his sentence, "Chaos reigns in," hit off the prevailing situation in the House.

The correspondent adds:—"The Socialists declare that Austria has no interest in continuing further warfare. They will make an urgent interpellation on Wednesday for a continuation of negotiations with the Ukraine, Petrograd, Jassy, Venezia, and Trebaschigo (north-west of Monte). Fortunately there is time to deplore but few victims among civilians, mostly women. Anti-aircraft batteries met the enemy with intense fire. One machine was struck and came down aflame near Volpago.

Yesterday morning one of our flights bombarded effectively the railway station of Rusbruck.

THE REPINGTON CASE.

FINES OF £100 AND COSTS.

The hearing of the summons charging Lieutenant-Colonel Charles A'Court Repington and Mr. Howel Arthur Gwynne, editor of the Morning Post, with contravention of the Defence of the Realm Regulations was resumed at Bow street Police Court, London, yesterday, before Sir John Dickinson. The two were accused of having published information without lawful authority in respect of the disposition of the military forces of the King and his Allies.

Addressing the magistrate for the defendants, whose case he opened, Mr. Hogge, K.C., said it was inconceivable that those two gentlemen should be put upon their trial except upon the firm belief that the publication of the article was one which sinned against the Defence of the Realm Act, but he would be able to show that it sinned neither against the Statute nor the State. He should submit that the subject matter of this article, which was being discussed throughout the length and breadth of the country, was a matter which, from the point of view of the paper and that of the writer, it was absolutely necessary the public should have cognisance of for the benefit of the State to which they belonged. He quoted from several German newspapers to show that the information in question had already been published in that country, and that, therefore, what the Morning Post contained did not convey anything to the enemy beyond what they already knew.

Mr. Atkinson did not produce any witnesses.

THE DECISION.

The Magistrate, without calling upon the Solicitor-General to reply, gave the decision of the Court. He said he had listened to the whole truth or fairly of the article. He had read it very carefully, and he had no doubt it came within the Regulations. He fined Mr. Gwynne £100 and 50 guineas costs. He regretted that a distinguished soldier like Colonel Repington should have forgotten himself. The lapse was a serious one, and he must be fined £100 and 40 guineas.

The Morning Post and Colonel Repington have decided not to appeal against the judgment.

MINISTRY OF PROPAGANDA.

Mr. Walter Roch, in the House of Commons yesterday, asked the Chancellor of the Exchequer if he could say what new appointments had been made by the Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster to assist him in his work of propaganda, and whether propaganda in neutral countries had been placed in the hands of Mr. Robert Donald.

Mr. Bonar Law—When the Department of Information was organised a Literary Committee was established, consisting of Lord Northcliffe, Lord Burnham, Mr. Robert Donald, and Mr. C. P. Scott. Mr. Robert Donald's proceeded on his mission to America Lord Beaverbrook was appointed to the Committee, and Major Sir George Riddell was added. This plan of organisation was never considered satisfactory, either by the members of the Committee or by the Department, and the Minister has decided to ask certain members of the Committee to undertake the direction of the various branches of the Department. The following appointments, therefore, have been made:—Lord Northcliffe, to be Director of Propaganda in Enemy Countries; Mr. Robert Donald, to be Director of Propaganda in Neutral Countries; Sir Campbell Stuart, to be Director of Intelligence; Mr. John Buchan, to be Director of Propaganda; General A. M. Ross, Quartermaster-General of the Overseas Military Forces of Canada, to be Director of Administration; Sir William Jury, to be Director of Commercial Propaganda; and Sir Robert Jones, K.B.E., to be Deputy Director of Allied and Foreign Propaganda. The Director of Finance and Supply will be Mr. Edgar Sheppard, and about 90 per cent. of the staff now throughout consists of gentlemen with long Press experience.

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT WITH THE PROPRIETORS OF THE TIMES.)

THE STATE OF IRELAND.

The delegation from the Irish Convention, which had important meetings with the Prime Minister and the War Cabinet last week, says The Times, has returned to Ireland. The full Convention has been summoned to meet in Dublin next Tuesday, and it is clear that we are on the eve of the final sittings. The Convention will review the position in the light of the communications which took place in London, and proceed to prepare its report. It is expected that the report, on which momentous issues hang, will be presented to the Government in about three weeks' time, certainly before Easter. Meanwhile Irish newspapers are agreed in denouncing the utter lawlessness into which the whole country is rapidly drifting. They interpret according to their various lights the apparent apathy of the Government, which is ascribed in turn to the Convention "atmosphere," to sheer weakness, to some Machiavellian desire to find an excuse for military rule. About the facts there is no difference at all, and every private letter tells the same tale. The scandal is certain to be raised in the House of Commons, if it does not first break out in a more glaring form. Whatever reasons of the Convention, the Government are full of

DUBLIN COUNTY COUNCIL.

THE COUNCIL AND A TREASURER.

TRANSFER OF BANK ACCOUNT.

At an adjourned quarterly meeting of the Dublin County Council yesterday, Mr. P. J. O'Neill, J.P., Chairman, presiding, a discussion took place upon a notice of motion requesting the Local Government Board to sanction the transfer of the accounts of the Council from the National Bank, Ltd., to the Munster and Leinster Bank, Ltd., as a mark of disapproval of the action, alleged to have been taken by them, in refusing to honour a cheque drawn by the War Pensions Committee.

The Secretary read correspondence arising out of the matter, which was discussed at the previous meeting of the Council, when the Secretary was directed to write to the manager of the National Bank for an explanation of the discourtesy stated to have been given to the Chairman of the Council when he visited the bank in connection with the matter.

Mr. J. J. O'Connell, general manager National Bank, wrote—

"I was greatly astonished to read in the public Press that, at the last meeting of the Dublin County Council, on the 7th instant, the Chairman of the Council, Mr. P. J. O'Neill, brought a charge against me of receiving him 'most discourteously' when he called at the bank some time previously, and that notice of motion was thereupon given to withdraw the Dublin County Council account from the National Bank. I understood from the published reports of the proceedings of the Council that it passed a resolution to demand an explanation from the Bank, which I received no communication on the subject. I think I should, in courtesy to the Council and in justice to the Bank, call upon you to place the following statement before your Council at its next meeting—about twelve months ago a Mr. Gilman called at the bank here for the Dublin War Pensions, etc., Local Committee, of which, according to a copy of a Committee minute, furnished by him, he had been appointed treasurer for the first three months, and also secretary. No authority was given him by the Committee to operate on the account, but he proceeded to do so. The irregularity was brought to his notice again and again, and he was requested to provide the Bank with the necessary authorisation from the Committee. This he failed to do. He then, later on, proceeded to overdraw the account, again without any authorisation from the Committee. I am not apparently in consequence of my refusing to permit this further gross irregularity that the matter was brought to the notice of Mr. O'Neill (who is, I understand, Chairman of the County Dublin War Pensions Local Committee), and that Mr. O'Neill as Chairman of that Committee, and not in any way as Chairman of the Dublin County Council, called upon me in the bank. I should add that Mr. Gillman, in addition to operating on the account, and overdrawing, without furnishing us with any authorisation from his Committee, used, in place of the ordinary form of cheque, a form of unstamped paying order which can only be used in conjunction with advice notes, furnished to the bank, and duly signed by members of the Committee; but no such advice notes were ever furnished to us. This irregularity was also brought to Mr. Gilman's notice, but to no purpose. Mr. Gillman also endeavoured to delegate the signing of cheques to two ladies, when he was temporarily absent, which, of course, we could not allow. It was under these circumstances that Mr. P. J. O'Neill called upon me. On Friday, the 11th January, a gentleman, an entire stranger to me, walked into my private office in the bank and said that his name was O'Neill, that he had come about the War Pensions Committee account, that the British Government might not be as financially sound as they were four years ago, but that he thought they might still be regarded as reliable for a sum of fifty or sixty pounds." I replied that the stability of the British Government was not in question in the case; that the account was not a Government account; that it was entirely an account of the local Committee of the War Pensions, etc.; that it had been worked most irregularly by Mr. Gillman, the secretary; and that, in the absence of any authority from the Committee, we could not allow Mr. Gillman to run up an overdraft on the account. Mr. O'Neill then stated that he would be personally responsible for the £50 overdraft, but we declined to have the account transferred to another bank. That, I said, was a matter entirely within the discretion of his Committee. They could, of course, take the account to any bank they preferred; but, as long as it was with us, we were bound to see that it was worked in a legal and regular manner. Mr. O'Neill then signed the guarantee for the required overdraft and left the office. The least discourtesy was either offered or intended; and had Mr. O'Neill been willing to hear the explanation which the Bank officials desired to place before him, and which he refused at least twice to hear, I have no doubt, have judged the situation differently. The County Council will see from the foregoing that neither the Dublin County Council nor Mr. P. J. O'Neill, as such, was in any way concerned with the incident of January 11th. The matter discussed had no connection with the County Council, nor did Mr. O'Neill speak or act as Chairman of the Council. There could not, therefore, have been any discourtesy done to the Dublin County Council, which was never even mentioned on the occasion. Hence, Mr. O'Neill would seem to have been somewhat wanting in fairness to the National Bank, when he communicated to the Council what had been shown to the Council in his person. Hence, too, the Bank feels justified in asking that the friendly relations which have always existed between the Dublin County Council and their treasurer will not be in any way disturbed in consequence."

Mr. O'Connell, in a further letter, said that, while he was not conscious of any act or word on the occasion that could be regarded as discourteous, he regretted that any word or act did anything that could be regarded by Mr. O'Neill as discourteous, or if he took offence at any action or word of his.

A letter was read from Mr. Mahony to the Secretary stating that Mr. Gilman (deceased) admitted that his instructions from the Council were to write to the National Bank for an account here for the Dublin War Pensions, etc., Local Committee, of which, according to a copy of a Committee minute, furnished by him, he had been appointed treasurer for the first three months, and also secretary. No authority was given him by the Committee to operate on the account, but he proceeded to do so. The irregularity was brought to his notice again and again, and he was requested to provide the Bank with the necessary authorisation from the Committee. This he failed to do. He then, later on, proceeded to overdraw the account, again without any authorisation from the Committee. I am not apparently in consequence of my refusing to permit this further gross irregularity that the matter was brought to the notice of Mr. O'Neill (who is, I understand, Chairman of the County Dublin War Pensions Local Committee), and that Mr. O'Neill as Chairman of that Committee, and not in any way as Chairman of the Dublin County Council, called upon me in the bank. I should add that Mr. Gillman, in addition to operating on the account, and overdrawing, without furnishing us with any authorisation from his Committee, used, in place of the ordinary form of cheque, a form of unstamped paying order which can only be used in conjunction with advice notes, furnished to the bank, and duly signed by members of the Committee; but no such advice notes were ever furnished to us. Portrait of Mr. WILLIAM HARBORNE, of 6 Railway Road, Perry Barr, Birmingham, who writes:—

About two years ago I met with rather a bad accident. I was a conductor on the City Tramways and whilst getting in my fares one day the car was pulled up quickly, and I was hurled through a window. My wrist was severely, and I had to have it stitched at the hospital. This wound me out of work for some weeks, and after resuming my duties for about a month my body broke out in Boils. Again I went to the hospital, and was treated for Blood Poisoning; this happened on three occasions, and I began to think I should never be cured. Then I gave Clarke's Blood Mixture a trial, and the first bottle or two seemed to be driving out the poison, and I persevered with it, and after six bottles I was cured. It is now over twelve months since I left off taking your Clarke's Blood Mixture, and I have seen no signs of any further blood disorder.

Clarke's Blood Mixture, by reason of its remarkable blood purifying properties, can be relied upon to give speedy relief and lasting benefit in all cases of Eczema, Scrofula, Ulcers, Abscesses, Bad Legs, Rheumatism, Boils, Pimples, Sores and Eruptions, Piles, Glandular Swellings, Rheumatism, Constant use for a few months will free from anything injurious. THE SURVEYORS' INSTITUTION.

The Executive Committee of the Irish branch of the Surveyors' Institution met yesterday at their offices, 110 Grafton street, Dublin. Mr. W. C. L. Ross, Waterford, presided, and there were also present:—Mr. Fane Vernon, Mr. George F. Stewart, Mr. G. B. Garvey, Mr. Maurice Dockrell, Mr. C. L. Swan, Mr. Harry Franks, Mr. Charles Dickinson, Mr. T. N. Edgeworth, Mr. B. E. Maunsell, Mr. W. H. F. Verschoyle, and Mr. R. J. Newcombe, Secretary.

A resolution, proposed by Mr. C. Ledlie Townshend, and seconded by Mr. George F. Stewart, was passed, placing on record their sincere sorrow for the death of their friend, the late Mr. A. W. Brunker, who was for many years a member of the Committee, and Chairman of the Quantity Surveyors' Sub-Committee.

The Sub-Committee appointed to deal with the Wages Board's provisional proposal fixing values of agricultural labourers' perquisites, submitted their report on the subject, which was approved.

The Department of Agriculture's new Tillage Order of 1st February, 1918, relating to farms of 100 acres and upwards, was considered.

Correspondence with the Local Government Board in connection with arbitrators' awards for houses condemned in Dublin under housing schemes, was read, and referred to a sub-committee.

Arrangements were made for the Irish professional examinations to be held in the third week of March, examinations to be held in the third week of March, 1918, and it was decided to alter the date of the monthly meeting of the Executive Committee in March to the second, instead of third, Thursday.

FINANCIAL NOTICE.

CUBAN PORTS COMPANY.

TO THE HOLDERS OF THE 5 PER CENT. FIRST MORTGAGE 20-YEAR GOLD BONDS.

The Committee appointed to safeguard British interests in the above Company desire to refer to the offer made in October last by the Cuban Government for the purchase of the Company's property, and to the negotiations between the Cuban Government and the Cuban Ports Company.

This offer was to the effect that Bondholders should receive in full payment for all claims, dues, and interest in exchange for the Bonds of the Cuban Ports Company the same number of Bonds of a corresponding issue of the Cuban National Bonds, interest commencing 1st November, 1917, secured on the Customs dues and improvements there. It is estimated that the said Bonds, applied to the purchase of the property, will be sufficient to redeem the entire issue within 15-16 years.

At a meeting of Bondholders, held in Havana on the 9th February, 1918, at which over 70 per cent. of the Bonds were represented, resolutions of Bonds held in Cuba, were represented, resolutions of Bonds held in Cuba, were passed unanimously, after hearing the Trust Company of Cuba, in full confidence of the Bondholders' interests, and the Committee in London advised.

The Committee wish the Bondholders to understand that the arrears of interest from March, 1916, was not paid owing to the impossibility of getting the Treasury Warrants signed by the Cuban Government. The Government decided that they would make the said payment as soon as the road to Gaso arrests, but took the claim into consideration at the time of payment of the claim into consideration at the time of payment of the interest due to the Bondholders.

The Committee consider the settlement thus made is in every way satisfactory one, and that the Bondholders, not less than the Committee, have to congratulate themselves that after the four years' delays they have got the matter settled.

The Committee recommend Bondholders to complete the settlement by depositing their Bonds without delay with the Guaranty Trust Company of New York, 140 Broadway, New York, or with Messrs. Kleinwort, Sons, and Company, 20 Fenchurch street, London, E.C.

They will receive in exchange a Certificate of Deposit which will be exchanged for the Cuban National Bonds at the time of the delivery of the latter
